STEP-BY-STEP OVERVIEW

QUICK START

Congratulations on becoming more self sufficient! I couldn't be more thrilled for you!

To get started on your journey toward a life with Food Freedom, we've provided some fundamentals as you embark on this new chapter.

Instructions:

1 Start By Reading "Aquaponics" & "Geodome" Books

These helpful guides will provide you with what you need to start growing food for you and your family. Read these books and get start right away, as prices for parts are raising quickly. Don't forget to watch the DIY Aquaponics video.

Make sure you buy seeds as soon as possible. Store these in the freezer until you need them.

It's just a matter of time before the complete supply chain collapses and your shit out of luck. The time to do this is now.

2 Read The Supplementary Books

To be sure you have everything you need to ride out the coming storm, I strongly recommend you read all the bonuses books:

1. Potato Box: Build your own potato box and grow 100 LBS of potatoes in just 4 sq. ft.
2. Seed Vault: Learn which seeds you need to store to survive. And you better get these fast before they become unavailable.
3. Long Term Food Storage: Keep your family feed during the winter and never let any of your food go to waste. Learn how to store your produce year-round.
4. Survival Checklist: 33 things you need to survive that you can't get when disaster strikes.

GET STARTED

I have to repeat, with all the crazy things happening in the world, a crisis is imminent.

The time to get started is now. There's not time to waste.

Do Your Best

- Follow the books and videos as closely as possible
- Buy what you can with the money you have. Remember, with inflation things will just keep getting more expensive, so buy what you need right away.
- Invite friends and family to help out, you are stronger as a group
- If possible, build this system at a bugout house, some place as far from the city as you can. Crime will rise when no one has food.

We guarantee that if you follow what you learn in the Food Freedom System, you will have the food you and our family needs when society collapses.

You can do this!

We can't wait to hear about your awesome results!
